It was expected that the House of Commons would adjourn on Monday out of respect to the memory of dir. Cobden, but Government thought the pressure of indispensable business too great. Lard Palmerston, however, rose, and in a somewhat laboured but graceful anesch bore witness to the loss the mation had sustained. The Premier disinteresteduces, inentioning that he had refused a scat in the Cabinet and a baronetcy, and declaring that in him the House had block one of its prosplest ornaments." Mr. Digraeli followed with a tribute full of his carriera felicitar of enigram: He believed him to have been a logician with few equals, a man in whose character there was, despite his popular opinions, "a vein of reverer co in- tradition," the "greatest political character the pure middle class of this country has yet produced." one of those men who after douth are still members of the House "independent of dissolutions, of the caprice of constituencies, even of the course of time " Then Mr. Bright rose, but after a few sentences expressing "how little he knew box much he loved his friend, till he had lost him." he broke down? The buyly grater who has faced the House in its haughtiest moods, and who would to-morrow face a mob yelling for his head, was choked with his own tears, and sat down a different and a higher man in the estimation of every. member present France has not been alow to add her tributed respect to the one which is coming up from overy town in Great Britain. La Press appeared in morning all the papers published warm culogies on the lecensed stateman, and Le Moniteur devoted a leading article to his career. The official praise is warm. Mr. Coliden being declared to be "one of those men who will do the nineteenth century most bonour, the man "who drew up the creed of the new doctrine of free trade," "a man of remarkable maderation, of sagacious slowners." the "type of the true communist, the citizens of the commercial universe." But Le Moniteur could not of course lose the opportunity of praising Casar, and finish. es its close by declaring that 'Richard Cobden is lying has had the joy of seeing the economic tank. so grandly understand by Napolcon III., spread its rare through the whole of Europe under the impulse of a French statesman. Europe has been alarmed this week by stories o n new plague imported from Siberia into St. Pe-tersburg, and thence marching slowly westwards on the cholora route. After reading about eleven different accounts of the past we are driven to the conclusion, that there is as yet no evidence unon which to base either alarm or confidence, nothing heing certain except that some epidimeo is killing thousands in the Russian capital. According to one theory it is simply the Isich famine fever, according to another it is the result of the consumption again in the Whangauren (Whaingaroa? distion of horned rye which the populace have been forced to consume for want of better food. The project, for increasing the allowances of the Prince of Wales is said to have been withdrawn.

The new from Bootan is bad. The reinforcements have started, but Her Majesty's 80th and 55th, with a battery of Royal Artillery, have left Bookleta for the frontier in beats, so crowded that "cholera has shown itself in hoth regiments," and the rains are cominy down fuziouly. Sir Charles Wood on Thursday night, while refusing to answer questions, said every precaution had been taken topreserve the health of the troops, but Sir Charles never travelled on an Indian river in a boat with the rains coming down. The advance on Dewangiri is to begin, as we predicted last week, about the first week in April andfirst thing to be done will he to retake Dewangiri, where there is no command of water, but are some 10,000 of the enemy, many of them it is becoming clear, refugee sepoys. The Buntessbaveinvaded Durrang, a British tea-planting district, and have forced both planters and cultivators to fly.

The German Diet on the 5th inst. passed a resolution declaring that it, "confidently expects". Austria and Prussis to place Holstein in the hands of the Prince of Augustenburg, and to be informed of their arrangements about Lauenburg. Schleswig is not mentioned, as not being within Federal territory. Therenoupthe Austrian tepresentative informed the assembly that Austria would agree to the vote provided Prussia would, and the Prussinan representative quietly declared that Prussia would not. She wished for investigation but was in any case "unable to realize the expectations held out by the Diet." This is as much as to say Pressic will go her own way, and Herr von Roon, while demanding a grant of 2,800,000? for the Navy, told the Chamber that Prussia had recoived under any circumstances to retain Kiel. Kiel and South Schleswig to Prussia, North Schleswig to Denmark, and Helatein to Oldenburg, in exchange for a slice of territory, that seems the alternative Prussian dea. Herr von Bismark, however, evidently calculates on keeping the whole, and is said to be also arranging with the Czar for another bits of Poland." We are a strange people. If the Federal Government were to fire on an English ship the nation would be clamouring for war, but because everything points to pence we are getting into a panic. On Thursday night Lord Elcho roused another debate shout this nover-ending defences-of-Canada question. His object was to show that there had been no agreement between the Governments of Great Britain and Canada on the subject can be ladened and discharged. and he certainly did show conclusively that Canada expects what it will not get, namely, a guarantee for its share of the expense of fortifications. The Canadian Ministry are coming to England to sottle this and other questions, and meanwhile waste national resources on useless works. He would fight for Canada, but not on Canadian soil.

Sir J. D. Hay expressed the same opinion, so did service, so did Mr. C. Buston, who pressed strong. lo the argument that the Canadians themselves that the Canadians had on the whole behaved well, and General Pool spoke boldly in favour closely to the point when he said that if England could hald Ouchee, and Canada Montreal, conquiet however easy, would not be worth an enemy's while. The vote was not taken, and a fourth dehate is possible a large party having evidently sentative body closely connected with his great sa ifled itself that the British Covernment is unreforms, would be heartily responded to by the declaring an impossible task.
